Karaneeya Metta Sutta: Heart of the Buddha Compiled by: Thankut Varo Prasad NathaÄtsutaÄsaya.Q: Moving Visual Studio 2010 solution to a different computer The Visual Studio 2010 solution I maintain is deployed as a.sln file. I am going to transfer it to a different computer so I can test it out with a separate company's VS2010. Is there a simple way to take the.sln file and just reload it onto the new computer? Is it possible to do this directly in VS? Note: I've heard of using the Visual Studio Merge Wizard but I am not sure if I can use it with a.sln and a.suo file. A: There is an option to do that on the Export dialog when you right click a solution, look for the checkbox: "Save solution". Once you have the.sln file on another computer, there is a button on the main menu to reload it and that is the same as the import. Just uncheck the "save solution" box and use the "load solution" button, after that you can continue as usual. . "Curiouser and curiouser," said MacGregor. "A fair joke, Gregor," said the queen. "What I say I say in jest. But it is not me who will be
